J. E. Stauffer, M. P. P. for Didsbury was chosen Deputy Speaker of the Legislature on Friday last on motion of Premier Sifton. This is quite an honor for our Didsbury member, taking into consideration the number of members there are in the Legislature and will no doubt be of interest to many of our readers.

Mr. A. E. Reitzel left for Elmira, Ont., on Wednesday. He states that he will be working on a useful machine which has never before been seen in the Dominion.

We wish to say to the ladies of Didsbury and vicinity that we are better prepared than ever to cater to the needs of the buyers of fashionable Millinery. We are constantly receiving new stock and we can and will make prices such as will move the goods out. Come and see us before sending away or buying elsewhere. MRS. J. C. STEVENS.

The Provincial Department of Agriculture has just issued a circular entitled "The Housing of Swine" which deals with the subject in a very exhaustive manner. This circular will be mailed free to any farmer making application to the Department of Agriculture, Edmonton.

Mr. and Mrs. Osmond returned on Wednesday evening of last week from attending the Press convention which was held at Edmonton and from their trip to Tete Janne Cache and the Yellow Head Pass, and report a very enjoyable time, but unfortunately the Editor was taken seriously ill two days after reaching home and was therefore unable to give a description of the trip as he intended to in this issue but arrangements will be made to have it started next week.

Didsbury Fall Fair

All that remains now to make the Didsbury Agricultural Society Fall Fair on Tuesday and Wednesday, October 7th and 8th, a decided success is for the weather man to favor us with fine weather on those dates. The Fair this year promises to be a much larger and better one than ever before.

Several alterations are being made on the grounds in order that the safety of the general public may be assured.

All autos and rigs will have a special plot of ground on the inside of the race course, for which a special charge will be made. New elevated hog pens are being erected; poultry section is to be enlarged. Several new tie posts are being put in so that parties with rigs can tie their horses to them, and every way possible the directors in charge of affairs are arranging things so as the standing room of the spectators will be absolutely free of horses and autos and as well give them a full view of the ring.

A special programme of horse racing and other amusing sports are also being arranged for by the sports committee.

As a last word of mention don't forget that all entries for the Fair must be made either personally or by letter to the Secretary at his office before 6 p. m. on Tuesday, October 7th and all exhibits must be in place before 10 a. m. on October 8th.

AROUND THE TOWN

See Didsbury Fall Fair ad on page 3 of this paper.

The W. C. T. U. Convention will be held at Olds on September 26, 27, 28 and 29.

Dr. and Mrs. A. J. Weart were visitors at Calgary on Friday last.

Mr. Robert Adams of the town line has purchased Peter D. Fehr's house and will move into it in the spring.

There will be a meeting of the Didsbury Curling Club, Limited, at the office of Dr. Reed on Thursday, October 2nd at 8 p. m.

J. N. Paton is again able to attend to his business duties after having been under quarantine for the past four or five weeks.

Go to the Harness shop for your horse blankets and other horse goods.

From reports of the Daily newspapers Thanksgiving Day will be held this year on Monday, October 20th.

Miss Beatrice Liesemer who has been spending the summer holidays with her parents returned to the University at Edmonton on Monday last.

Mrs. James Perie and family of Toronto, Ont., arrived in Didsbury on Wednesday last, to join her husband who is working with the firm of Studer & Co.

Bring your children to the Didsbury Fair. They will be able to run about and enjoy themselves without any worry to you whatever for the standing ground will be absolutely free of horses and rigs.

STORM SUPERSTITIONS

An Aerolite Fires a Village and Wipes It Out of Existence

The recent terrific storms which swept over Spain has yielded a large crop of weird stories. Here is one which has just been received.

The village of Alcocer, near Valencia, has been practically wiped out and the surrounding country ravaged by an aerolite of great size.

Shortly after noon there dropped from a cloudless sky a great ball of fire. A deafening series of detonations like a thousand rifle shots resounded through the atmosphere, and scattering tongues of flame in all directions, the heavy mass buried itself in the earth.

The surrounding country was set on fire, and within an hour nothing but blackened masses of smouldering cinders remained of farmhouses, haylofts and gathered crops of hay, wheat and olives.

The whole population of Alcocer was at the moment attending a requiem service in the church, some two miles distant. But for that circumstance the loss of life would have been terrible. As it was five persons were seriously burnt, one of them succumbing to his injuries the same evening.

At the moment the aerolite fell at Alcocer a terrific thunderstorm, which was accompanied by a rain of stones, some the size of oranges and weighing nearly two pounds, burst over the neighboring villages of Benavites and Cuartil.

The ground was covered in places to a depth of five inches by these stones. A pungent odor of sulphur pervaded the locality for hours after the phenomenon.

Relieves Asthma at Little Expense. Thousands of dollars have been vainly spent upon remedies for asthma and seldom, if ever, with any relief. Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy, despite its assurance of benefit, costs so little that it is within reach of all. It is the national remedy for asthma, far removed from the class of doubtful and experimental preparations. Your dealer can supply it.

Maxims for the Married

Never both be angry at the same time.

Never taunt with past error.

Never allow a request to be repeated.

Never meet without a loving welcome.

Let self-denial be the daily practice of each.

Neglect everyone else, even the whole world, rather than each other.

Never let the sun go down upon thy grievance.

Never speak loudly to each other, unless the house is on fire.

Never make a remark at the other's expense—it is a meanness.

Never fuss over what might have been, but make the most of what is.

Never part for the day without a loving or gentle word to think of during absence.

Never mind fault unless it is perfectly certain a fault has been committed, and always speak lovingly.

Women Succeed as Bankers

The possibilities of banking as a career for women have been demonstrated by Farrow's Bank for Women, which was inaugurated a couple of years ago in London, England, and which, managed entirely by women, proved so successful that it was recently moved to new and enlarged quarters.

The bank's success, in the opinion of Mrs. Kate Kelly, the manageress, is largely due to the hearty support it has received from women.

In an interview she said: The eagerness with which women of all classes and from all parts of the empire, took up the idea of an institution devoted entirely to their needs was in itself a proof that Farrow's novel departure was fulfilling a long-felt want.

Our bank gives women the privilege of consulting one of their own sex over their business affairs.

The business transacted here is precisely the same as that transacted by any other joint stock bank, and the fact that all our staff consists of women is good evidence that one sex is not more gifted than the other in accuracy and a head for figures.

A feature of our establishment here is a rendezvous room for our clients, where they can meet their friends and write letters.

At a railway station in a small town a solitary traveller was waiting for the day's only train. Train time came and went, but no train. He went over to the station master, an old dandy: Say, when does today's train get here, anyway?

Oh, dat train won't be in for a long time yet.

In a few minutes, however, a train was seen crawling toward the station. There comes the train! exclaimed the traveller, exultantly, to the darkey. Seems to me you don't know your business, if I'm not mistaken.

Say, mister, replied the darkey, I reckon you's a perfect stranger around here. Dat's yesterday's train, dat is. Today's train won't be in 'till tomorrow.

Austria and Toronto Exhibition

The introduction of a steamship service between Canada and Austria by the Canadian Pacific Railway Company has already demonstrated its usefulness in bringing the two countries into closer touch with each other and the inauguration of Observation cars on the Government railways of that country was the initial step towards cementing the people together. This excellent work has been the means of arousing the enthusiasm and interest of the Austrian Government to a greater degree in an industrial direction, the natural and industrial wealth of the Dominion of Canada appealing to this section of Austria. With a view to the future development of important industries in Canada, the Austrian Government got into touch with the promoters of the forthcoming exhibition at Toronto and through these offices one of the principal exhibits at this annual show will be that of the Austrian Government, which will occupy two hundred yards of space. It will be typical of Austria in every detail and over fifty firms, employing an aggregate of nearly one hundred thousand people, will be showing their various manufactures, which is further evidence of the desire of the Austrian Government to get into closer relationship with this great country of ours.

How Rockefeller Got His Start

When I was ten years old I had succeeded in earning some money. It was $50. I loaned it to a neighbor at 7 per cent interest. In a year the money earned me $3.50. From that time onward I determined to make money work for me.

So writes John Davison Rockefeller who began to make a living almost as soon as he could work. At 10 he was earning 37 cents a day hoeing a neighbor's potato fields. In 1853, when he was 14, he left his Tioga County, N.Y., birthplace for Cleveland. There he got a job as office boy. Later he became a clerk; then cashier and bookkeeper for a mercantile house. He and two friends managed to borrow enough money to take hold of a petroleum refinery. Rockefeller saw wonderful possibilities in oil and he reached out for one refinery after another, until in 1861 he was able to organize the Standard Oil Co. Six years later the Standard Oil Trust was formed and Rockefeller was on the way to fabulous fortune. He has a genius for borrowing. Indeed, his start was made on borrowed capital plus genius. He is said to have been worth less than $1,000 in his own right when he was 20. But the borrowed money worked for him until there was no further need to borrow.

Hope for the Chronic Dyspeptic.—Through lack of consideration of the body's needs many persons show disorders of the digestive apparatus to endure until they become chronic, filling days and nights with suffering. To these a course of Parmelee's Vegetable Pills is recommended as a sure and speedy way to regain health. These pills are so specially compounded to combat dyspepsia and the many ills that follow in its train, and they are successful always.

A woman never admits that she was wrong.

I don't know about that, replied Mr. Meekton. A number of them seem anxious to prove that they showed pretty poor judgment in selecting husbands.

WHAT do you pay for in shotshells? Why, plainly for shooting quality which means accurate loads, uniformity, sure fire, care and experience in the making.

Then specify Remington-UMC—Canadian made, from our new factory at Windsor, Ontario. Arrow or Nitro Club smokeless loads. Slightly higher in cost—more reliable in the field.

$50,000 Fire at Brooks, Alta.

An entire block of stores was entirely demolished by a disastrous fire which started in a Chinese laundry at 10 o'clock on Thursday night last and approximately $50,000 damage was done. With no fire fighting apparatus of any account except a chemical borrowed from the C.P.R. headquarters building there, the citizens who fought the flames hadn't a chance to overcome them and store after store went up in smoke.

The blaze was first observed by O.
L. Edlands, manager of the Alberta Pacific Grain company, and he started the alarm. The flames, fanned by a stiff breeze worked their way into stores adjoining on both sides of the laundry and soon the whole block was a mass of flames.

Jas Ingram and Jas. Pierce are the heavy sufferers owning most of the buildings. C. L. Bambrick was also a severe loser from the flames.

In Memoriam of My Dear Beloved Husband Alex M. Ross, who died at his home on 16th September, 1912. Aged 49 years

One year have passed, my heart still sore;

As time goes on I miss him more;
His memory is as dear today,
As at the hour he passed away.

He suffered patiently and long,
His life was bright, his faith was strong;

The peace of Jesus filled his breast,
And on my arm he sank to rest

A loving husband, true and kind,
A faithful friend when he was here.

I have lost the one I dearly loved,
But hope to meet him in Heaven above.

How sudden was his death to me;
A great surprise to all,

When God did say you must come home;

Could I refuse his call.

Inserted by his sorrowing widow,

Temperance Meet- ing a Success

On Wednesday evening of last week in the Evan. Church a strong and emphatic Temperance lecture was elo-quently delivered by Mrs. Jackson Silbaugh of Seattle, Washington.

Mrs. Silbaugh who is the American National W. C. T. U. Organizer and Lecturer is spending two weeks in our Province enroute to the National Convention which is to be held in Boston shortly. She is a woman of high intellectual attainments and great personal charm. Her manner of discourse is logical, humorous and entertaining, and to hear her means inspiration to activity against the licensed drink traffic. Her address was especially based on the theme "My Neighbors Boy"
and "Who Shall Answer?"

Mrs. Silbaugh expressed sympathy rather than abhorrence or hatred for the bar tender and saloon keeper, and placed all the responsibility of licensed bars at the hands of the man who is unwilling to work and vote against,
and the young woman and matron who does not even raise her finger to the extent of wearing the "White Ribbon" to make known her influence against the terrible body and soul destroying liquor traffic.

By her remarkably powerful and pleasing manner this able woman held her audience for a span of almost two hours, at the close of which in a very few minutes the sum of $100 was raised toward the immediate process of educating public sentiment to the standard of total abstinence, and ultimate National Prohibition.

"A complete success" was the pronounced verdict of those in attendance.

But you don't flatter yourself you are going to turn out the Government?

Morriarty was the questioner. Oh, no! They will have a majority but not a big one; small enough to shake Hanley.

Mason had been reading the resolution to himself. His host suggested, Read it aloud. The whole party listened attentively.

A negative disguised under the suggestion of arbitration, remarked Mason when he had finished.

Arbitration never favors England. It will not come to that. If the majority is small, the Government will accept the verdict as final, and will yield their point.

Which foreigners will regard as a victory over Great Britain.

It can't be helped. Right is right. A few significant glances were exchanged. That Thompson-Halliday did not love Hanley was tolerably well known. This enthusiasm for the abstract probity of nations had not the ring about it of strict sincerity.

Mason and Morriarty walked to their club together.

Halliday seems pretty certain this time, the former remarked when their host's door closed behind them.

There's many a slip—especially in politics—betwixt the cup and the lip. In the suit Halliday versus Hanley, I should be inclined to back the defendant; but in this case the man in the know seems on the side of the plaintiff.

That's so. The Pioneer too, which has always been on Hanley's side, has been very quiet of late. That's a bad sign.

I don't know so much about that. The man who did those articles is out of town; I had it from the editor straight. He hinted a special mission, but nothing definite. You know the man I mean? A smart chap, and with some intellect at the back of him—Murgatroyd?

I know. They say he's coming into the House. By jove, that's funny. There he is!

At that moment a hansom passed the pair going slowly, owing to a temporary block. Murgatroyd was sitting in it, and leaning forward over the closed lower doors, evidently annoyed at the delay.

A young man in a hurry, quoted the Irishman.

A second later the hansom absolutely stopped, the block being complete. A quick step passed the pair and a tall man in a thick, fur-trimmed overcoat strode to the side of the horse, waving to the driver who was just about to proceed. Murgatroyd looked intensely surprised; then he made room for the stranger by his side. Both men uttered an exclamation when the new-comer faced them, and the hansom drove on. It was Sir Richard Hanley.

DREADFUL ITCHING AND BURNING

White Blisters Spread All Over Head. Scratched Until Mass of Sores. Hard Crusts Left Raw Flesh. Had to Cut Hair Away. Healed by Cuticura Soap and Ointment. Hair Growing Thick.

139 Romaine St., Peterboro, Ontario.—"My little girl's head was in a terrible state. It started with little white blisters, which would break until it spread all over her head. The burning and itching were dreadful, especially at night when she would scratch it until it was one mass of sores all over her head and the pillow would be covered with blood. She could get no rest at all with the pain. She would beg of me to put something on to cool the burning and irritation. Hard crusts would form on her head which when she scratched it would leave the raw flesh underneath, and her hair came off with it or would be in such a dreadful state that I would be obliged to cut the hair away."

"I tried several remedies but none of them seemed to do any good. I then cut her hair quite close, washed it with Cuticura Soap and bandaged it using Cuticura Ointment. It is now quite healed without a mark on the skin. Her hair is growing nice and thick again." (Signed) Mrs. M. Saunders, Feb. 13, 1913.

Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment are sold by druggists and dealers everywhere. A single set is often sufficient. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 25-p. Skin Book. Address post card Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Dept. 36D, Boston, U. S. A.

king to perfection. He arrived at Mr. Murray Murgatroyd's rooms in Henrietta Street, Coven Garden, punctually to a minute, at the time appointed, on the following day. Murgatroyd instantly noticed a subtle change in his visitor. He was carefully dressed in a black frock-coat with pepper-and-salt waistcoat and trousers—all obviously new. Jordan's whole air betokened the well-to-do tradesman, honest with the scales, sans peur et sans reproche. Murgatroyd, who was enjoying his morning pipe after breakfast, felt inclined to laugh outright.

Jordan made a profound bow on entering, and Murgatroyd without rising, held out his hand. Jordan accepted the proffered civility, and then sat down on the chair the journalist indicated with a wave of his hand.

You have not been made a churchwarden since we parted?

No, not exactly, Jordan replied, accepting the mild pleasantry as if it were earnest.

I was completely successful last night; although it came near to being an awkward business just for a few minutes.

Mr. Muller showed fight? I thought he was a good-pucked 'un.

Yes! The sight of Inspector Murphy from Scotland Yard quieted him; however, and in the end it was all settled as amicably as the circumstances permitted.

Jordan indicated his satisfaction. Murgatroyd went to a drawer in his writing-table, unlocked it, and took out the money he had promised Jordan, together with an additional substantial present which was not in the bond.

A gleam of the old manner came over Jordan when he saw the operation.

I don't call that exactly safe, sir, a child might find its way in with a toothpick.

Is anything safe?

Not much, sir, I am afraid. Jordan had relapsed into his new manner. One would judge that depravity of all kinds was alien to this simple unaffected nature.

Murgatroyd laughed out loud this time.

Well, your money is safe at any rate, and no doubt you will know how to take care of it. Not that I often keep anything of value here, he added, not being too sure of immunity from the propensity of his alley when their present association was over.

Jordan received the money with business-like alacrity, and was profuse in his thanks for the added present. Murgatroyd had made up his mind to speak seriously to Jordan, about giving up the precarious living, which could only have one ending if persevered in. He was forestalled, however, for Jordan had important news to impart.

Perhaps, sir, you are aware my name is not really Jordan? I took the name in case of trouble. My folk are some of them well up.

I thought it probable that you had more names than one, Murgatroyd said half-sarcastically, in the best Pioneer manner.

Jordan winced. Only two, sir, I help me.

What is your real one?

Alison James, I was christened nigh forty years ago.

You bear your years well.

Jordan took no notice of the interruption.

Since I saw you last, sir, circumstances have changed. I went to a quiet club—not the one you found me in—where I am known by my real name. I found a letter for me there.

A cousin of mine is dead and he has left me a nice little making business down Winchester way, with a small capital—a going concern, which has been in the family over a hundred years.

Murgatroyd was really rejoiced to hear it. For in spite of his past bad habits, he had all along recognized that there was good in the quondam law-breaker.

I am jolly glad! Then you will not go back to the old life at all?

Jordan is dead and buried. I was the only mourner at the funeral. Then, with the greatest solemnity in the world, he handed to Murgatroyd a card with the words inscribed upon it—

MESSRS. THOMAS ALISON & CO. Malsters, Heythorpe, near Winchester. Only the best materials used. All orders promptly attended to. Office hours, etc.

I am Thomas Alison and Company, said the ex-Jimmy Jordan with dignified simplicity.

Well, if you do the malting as well as you do other things, after a pause in search of an amiable ambiguity, you are likely to make things brisk at—what's the name of the place?

Heythorpe. I hope you will come and see me, sir, if ever you are that way. It is only two miles from Winchester, and has a station.

Murgatroyd promised. Alison stood up to go.

I think, sir, by all I hear, you are making a step up too?

In what way?

It is no secret, sir; all the papers are full of it—that you are to be member for Streatham West.

There's many a slip 'twixt the cup and the lip. You mustn't believe all you read in the papers.

Well, sir, you ought to know best about that, seeing that you write them.

Murgatroyd laughed.

Not the news—only the comment. Well, I hope it's true anyway. I don't know where they will get a better member.

Thank you. I hope Streatham West thinks as you do.

So they parted, with a hearty hand-

Of these, he continued, no less than 3,900 are extant.

A youthful Canadian, who is possessed of the romantic idea of going to sea, is meeting with much parental opposition.

The sailor never amounts to anything, my boy, urged his prosaic father. He works hard, has few holidays and never achieves great success.

That's where you're mistaken, exclaimed young Canada, triumphantly. Look at King George!

He started out as a sailor and now he's got to be the head of the empire.

STOPPED SHORT

Taking Tonics, and Built up on Right Food

The mistake is frequently made of trying to build up a worn-out nervous system on so-called tonics—drugs.

New material from which to rebuild wasted nerve cells, is what should be supplied, and this can be obtained only from proper food.

"Two years ago I found myself on the verge of a complete nervous collapse, due to overwork and study, and to illness in the family," writes a young mother.

"My friends became alarmed because I grew pale and thin and could not sleep nights. I took various tonics prescribed by physicians, but their effects wore off shortly after I stopped taking them. My food did not seem to nourish me and I gained no flesh nor blood.

Reading of Grape Nuts, determined to stop the tonic and see what a change of diet would do. I ate Grape Nuts four times a day with cream and drank milk also, went to bed early after eating a dish of Grape Nuts before retiring.

"In about two weeks, I was sleeping soundly. In a short time gained 20 lbs. in weight and felt like a different woman. My little daughter whom I was obliged to keep out of school last spring on account of chronic catarrh, has changed from a thin, pale nervous child to a rosy, healthy girl and has gone back to school this fall."

"Grape Nuts and fresh air were the only agents used to accomplish the happy results."

World's Record Made at Great Baisley Shoot

European shooting authorities are enthusiastic in their praise of the remarkable marksmanship of Major P. W. Richardson at the annual meet of England's National Rifle Association at Baisley, England.

In the London Daily Telegraph's report of the competition, July 22, this mention is made of Major Richardson's work:

"Major P. W. Richardson, the well-known marksman, who captained the last British shooting team that visited Canada and Australia, has created what is believed to be a world's record by scoring 33 consecutive bull's eyes at 1,100 yards. They were secured, it is true, in two competitions, plus extra shots, but as they were obtained absolutely without interval the feat stands unparalleled. Improved ammunition, it must not be forgotten, played its own part in the phenomenal shooting witnessed last week in the match-rifle competitions. Major Richardson shot with American service ammunition, manufactured by the Remington Arms Union-Metallic Cartridge Company."

A Genius in Mosaics

There recently died at Ivry, a suburb of Paris, a remarkable old man named Fraissard, who, it is claimed, could have been one of the world's most famous sculptors, if he had so desired, but who, instead, lived in a quiet, unpretentious way and finished life as he began it, with very little in the way of this world's goods.

When a boy, Mr. Fraissard was apprenticed to a marble-cutter, says the London News. For 50 years he continued to execute the most beautiful works of art; mostly in mosaics. It is claimed that every piece of work he did was a masterpiece, and the two rooms in which he lived contain a wonderful collection of beautiful objects. One is a black marble table with chessboard in onyx, and some cups, glasses and bottles. So delicate is the workmanship that the saucers are transparent. Eight years were occupied in the fashioning of this piece of work.

M. Fraissard's masterpiece took him nearly three times as long. It is a black marble table. In the middle is a chessboard, on either side of which are playing cards arranged as fans. On the table are dominoes and dice, cigars and cigarettes and several coins in gold and silver. All these are, of course, inlaid. The materials in the table besides the black marble, are agate, onyx, porphyry, malachite and lapis lazuli, the tones of which are black, red, orange, blue and white. Ninety different kinds of marble were also used.

In the old man's lodgings there are dozens of mosaics, opal cups, chandeliers and inkstands, inlaid in all sorts of stones. Fifty years of overwork, however, brought on a paralytic seizure, and for two years he had been helpless. He would never part with any of his works, no matter what price was offered him.

Went Right to It

James Francis Dwyer, the Australian novelist, tells the following story about the Japanese. Dwyer began as a reporter in Melbourne.

Japan sent a warship on invitation to Australia, said he. We were to unveil a monument in a park in the interior of Melbourne. The Japanese sailors were to grace the occasion. Not one of the Japanese had ever been on shore there before. When the morning of the unveiling came Melbourne sent a mounted escort to show the visitors the way to the park. The escort wasn't needed. At the head of the brown column marched an officer with his nose on a map, plumed to a bit of board.

He never looked up, said Dwyer. Now and then he'd give an order in Japanese, and the column would wheel to the left or right. Kind friends would wave their hands at the mounted escort, marching proudly up the wrong street, and tell them they had lost the city's guests.

Two or three times that performance was repeated. Then the mounted escort gave it up in disgust. The Japanese went to the park in the interior of the city straight as a pigeon flies to a hole in the barn. Afterwards Dwyer and other reporters measured the route and discovered that the Japanese, guided only by their war map, had taken the shortest route to their destination through a strange city.

Ideals

No matter what book we read, something within us lifts us above that book; we must press on. No masterpiece in any art is a measure of what there is in any one of us. We are never asking the pictures that have never been painted. We see statues unquarried, yet in the marble of Paros. Our ears listen for music that has never reached human instruments. Our eyes vaguely make out temples that have never been built. In his hands lie the books that have never been written. It is thus with human spirit in the arts. It cannot long fold its wings upon its own masterpieces; it rests there awhile, then must fly on. Thus all achievement is but a small part of what man strives to achieve; and thus the old always leaves the young something to do.

Reviving the Frozen

Professor Bakhmeteff, of Moscow University, has proved that animals may be frozen alive and then resuscitated without the slightest harm.

The first experiments were made with cold-blooded animals and insects. Butterflies were enclosed in a vessel containing air at a temperature of minus 23 degrees centigrade. The body fluid, immediately froze hard, all vital actions ceased, and in ordinary physiology, the butterflies were frozen to death.

Professor Bakhmeteff soon discovered, however, that by slow and careful warming they could be restored to life at any time before the body temperature had fallen below minus 10 degrees centigrade. Further tests showed that when the resuscitation process was begun at a body temperature of minus 4-12 degrees centigrade recovery was quickest and most complete.

The next stage was the repetition of the experiment on warm-blooded animals and on mammals. Two hundred tests in all were made and nearly all succeeded. Bats were refrigerated and kept dead for many weeks, and then completely restored.

A young Philadelphian who had decided that his somewhat extravagant spouse ought to keep an account of her expenditures, came to her, one day with a neat account book, prettily bound.

Now, Suzanne, he said, I want you to put down on this side of the book the money I give you for the household expenses, and on the other a statement of how it goes. In a couple of weeks I'll give you another supply of money.

Suzanne took the book and promised to follow instructions.

Two weeks later hubby called for the book.

Oh, I have kept it all right, said Suzanne. Here it is.

Free Indians

In proportion to the number of inhabitants there are very nearly as many planes and automobiles in the towns of the old Cherokee nation in the present state of Oklahoma as there are in those of Vermont or Delaware. The only Indians who are in the old free, nomadic condition are about 200 Seminoles in the Florida everglades and the big cypress morass. These Indians are as independent of the white man and almost as isolated from him, as were their forefathers when Ponce de Leon and De Soto landed in their neighborhood, says the Atlantic. They are neither citizens nor wards of the United States, nor do they hold any relation to their old associates who were transferred by the government to the west side of the Mississippi two thirds of a century ago, and who became one of the five civilized tribes of the present state of Oklahoma.

CURED ECZEMA LIKE MAGIC

Suffered for Years—Tried all Kinds of Treatment—Surprised at Results From Dr. Chase's Ointment.

You can soon tell when people are enthusiastic about medical treatment by the language they use. After experimenting with all sorts of ointments in a vain effort to obtain relief and cure, the writer of this letter was astonished at the quick and satisfactory results obtained by the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment.

"It worked like magic," she writes. Indeed, it is surprising the healing that is often effected in a single night by this great ointment. The stinging and itching are relieved at once, and cure is only a matter of time and patient treatment.

Mrs. Clements, 13 Strange street, Toronto, Ont., writes: "I have suffered from eczema for years, and after using all kinds of ointments, at last tried Dr. Chase's Ointment. It worked like magic and proved a Godsend to me. I would advise anyone suffering from eczema to try one box and be convinced." 60 cents a box, all postpaid, or Edmansson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

Even for Once

The man of whom we were told went into a downtown restaurant a noon or so ago and ordered a substantial luncheon. He ate it growlingly and when he had finished and pocketed his check he marched up to the cashier's desk and slapped down a fine-looking bank note.

It was a Confederate bill and the cashier was not slow to detect it. She pushed it back to the customer. This is no good, she said scornfully.

Neither was the lunch, answered the patron. Keep the change however. And he went away.

Casting Shadows Before

South Sea Islanders, in Captain Cook's day, believed that when they fed on an enemy his courage found its way into their hearts. We may smile at a notion so crude. Two hundred years ago, and more, South American Indians began relieving the pangs of indigestion by eating the stomachs of ostriches. We may imagine them removing from those organs any residuum of nalla, or door-knobs, which might remain there. For a long time this rude remedy was laughed at by Spaniards and Englishmen. Today, throughout the world, pepsin takes its place among the trustworthy resources of pharmacy and this pepsin is prepared from the stomachs, not of ostriches, but of swine—bravely competitive with ostriches in feats of digestion.

Nutrition, which follows upon digestion, seems to depend upon the thyroid gland, conspicuous in the human throat as Adam's apple. When one of the lower animals suffers the removal of its thyroid gland, nutrition is at once seriously disturbed. If the poor brute under experiment has pieces of fresh gland grafted beneath its skin, the derangement of nutrition is forthwith checked. An extract from such a gland serves just as well. A singular fact is that thyroid glands in healthy and mature animals contain more iodine than does any other tissue; and the activity of a gland as a remedy is in proportion to the iodine it contains. Why, nobody knows as yet. But knowledge, though incomplete, may have great value as far as it goes. In some parts of Europe, especially in Switzerland and Northern Italy, the deformity known as cretinism, afflicts wide districts. This and allied diseases of imperfect nutrition are accompanied by thyroid glands either withered or undeveloped. In such cases welcome relief follows upon the administration of thyroid extract; its particles seem to fly to the places where they find similar particles, much as iron filings speed to the magnet swayed above them.

Other glands, in elaborate tests, are proving to be equally helpful to physicians. Take, for example, those borne immediately above the kidney. They yield a preparation called adrenalin. This powerfully closes the smaller blood-vessels, so that it arrests bleeding, which, unchecked, might threaten death. Its uses are golden in many severe surgical operations. Thus from a quarter unimagined twenty years ago disease confronts a new foe, and health finds a faithful defender.

Poisoning by canned goods will not occur if care is exercised in their selection. Never purchase cans with two lumps of solder as this shows that the contents had worked and so had to be boiled over and re-sealed. If top of can bulges outward do not take the can as the contents are fermenting, and if finger is pressed on can and dent falls right back in place as soon as the finger is removed, the same is true, as it is gas which quickly pushes the tin back in place. If a can is bent or dented, one may be assured that the contents are in fine condition. Always empty the contents of can as soon as possible.

THE 'REDBEARDS'

Brigandage in Northern Manchuria Commercial conditions in North Manchuria during the year 1912, have been far from satisfactory, says Mr. Mr. A. E. Eastes, the British Acting Consul at Harbin, in his report for 1912. Even at this great distance from the centres of the Chinese revolution which broke out in the autumn of 1911, he says, its effects have been manifested in lessening the already sufficiently vague and shadowy authority exercised by Chinese officialdom over the population.

A direct incentive was thus given to lawless acts of brigandage, and large numbers swelled the ranks of the redoubtable Hunghutzu or red beards who infested the countryside and made a prosperous livelihood by means of rapine and the holding for ransom of persons and property. Such terror did these men exercise that carriers refused to face the risk of the road unless very highly paid, and the prices commanded for the hire of their services and vehicles rose to one hundred and fifty per cent. in excess of the nominal figure.

The natural result was that far smaller quantities of cereals were obtainable than had been anticipated, and the local prices rose to an almost prohibitive scale—from $15 to $20 per ton; failures were not infrequent, and the more substantial merchants were in many cases only able to load the vessels chartered to fulfil their forward contracts at a serious loss. Instead of the anticipated large increase in the exports of soy beans during the year 1912, for the haulage of which the Chinese Eastern Railway had made elaborate preparations, the value of exports of this commodity was actually only some 77 per cent. of the figures reached in 1911.

Prior to the end of 1912 the Chinese took no steps to cope with the state of affairs; it is, however, satisfactory to be able to report that at the time of writing (April, 1913) efficient military measures of repression have been carried out, and in the chief producing centres within 100 miles radius of Harbin order and safety to life and property have been restored.

WOMEN NEED A SAFE TONIC

And There is Nothing Better Than Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Toning Up the Blood

It is said that woman's work is never done, and it is a fact that whether in society or in the home her life is filled with more cares and more worries than falls to the lot of man. For this reason women are compelled to regretfully watch the growing pallor of their cheeks, the coming of wrinkles and the thinness that becomes more distressing every day. Every woman knows that ill health and worry is a fatal enemy to beauty, and that good health gives the plainest face an enduring attractiveness.

What women fail to realize is the fact that if the blood supply is kept rich and pure, the day of the coming of wrinkles, and pallor, dull eyes and sharp headaches is immeasurably postponed. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are literally worth their weight in gold to growing girls and women of mature years. They fill the veins with the rich, red blood that brings brightness to the eye, the glow of health to sallow cheeks, and charms away the headaches and backache that render the lives of so many women constantly miserable.

Mrs. William Jones, Crow Lake, Ont., says: "I feel that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills saved my life. I was so badly run down that I could hardly drag myself around. I was so bloodless that I was as pale as a sheet, and you could almost see through my hands. In fact the doctor told me my blood had all turned to water. I was taking medicine constantly, but without benefit. My mother had so much faith in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, that she bought me two boxes and urged me to take them. How thankful I am that I followed her advice. Before these were gone I began to feel better, and I continued using the Pills until I had taken five more boxes when I was again enjoying the blessing of perfect health, with a good color in my face, a good appetite, and I feel sure a new lease of life. I will always, you may be sure, be a warm friend of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

If you are weak or ailing begin to cure yourself to-day with the rich red blood Dr. Williams' Pink Pills actually make. If you do not find the Pills at your dealer's send 50 cents for a box or $2.50 for six boxes to the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., and they will be sent you by mail, post paid.

Henry was very proud of the new kittens, and went for them to show them to visitors. His mother heard them coming along the hall, and alarmed at the noise of the procession, called out: Don't hurt the kittens, Henry. No mother, came the reassuring answer, I am carrying them very carefully—the stellas.

Garter Knights

The elevation of Earl Spencer to the rank of Garter Knight increases the number of that august body to thirty though it was formerly fixed at twenty-five. Its numbers were increased to meet the growing demands of George III's family. The origin of this most noble puissant order is not definitely known. Two theories hold the field. In the one romance predominates, the other is more prosaic. Giving romance pride of place, we hear of a Countess of Salisbury and her dropped garter, of its replacement by our chivalrous King Edward III., and of his opposite remark to allay the jealous fears of his suspicious consort. The more prosaic theory says that Richard and his knights made a vow to St. George and to aid their memories tied tightly beneath their left knee a leathern thong. And it is this leathern thong which has become the strip of blue silk with its diamond border which kings number amongst their honors.

The Boy Problem

The World's Work has been describing what has been done for the boy by the Scouts, the Y.M.C.A., the Salvation Army and other bodies. Always in school and elsewhere where boys congregate, we are told, there are gangs. Usually these gangs are a nuisance; very often they are a serious menace to the morals of the gang members and to the peace of the neighborhood. For usually the energy of the gang is directed against law and order. But a new time is coming, for so many people in the schools, in the Boy Scouts, and in many other activities have grasped the fundamental fact that if these gang activities are guided, most wonderful results can be achieved—results that will leave these boys far better able to handle themselves honestly and effectively in the world than were their predecessors.—Edmonton Journal.

Where Autos are Not

Prince Edward Island is not the only place where the automobile is under the ban. Mount Desert, Maine, recently reaffirmed its resolution that no automobiles shall be allowed within the corporate limits. Mr. John D. Rockefeller, Jr., one of the advocates of this measure, said that he took his family to Mount Desert to get away from automobiles.

Why he Was Dejected

A well-known university professor who has taken much interest in the woman's suffrage movement, was persuaded to carry a banner in a parade that was held in New York some months ago.

His wife observed him marching with a dejected air and carrying his banner so that it hung limply on its standard, and later she reproved him for not making a better appearance.

Why didn't you march like somebody, and let people see your banner? she said.

My dear, meekly replied the professor, did you see what was on the banner? It read: Any man can vote. Why can't I?

Miller's Worm Powders are not surpassed by any other preparation as a vermifuge or worm destroyer. Indeed, there are few preparations that have the merit that it has to recommend it. Mothers, aware of its excellence, seek its aid at the first indication of the presence of worms in their children, knowing that it is a perfectly trustworthy medicine that will give immediate and lasting relief.

Not Half Enough

Kitty—They say, you know, that love makes the world go round.

Marie—Maybe; but it cannot make the eligible young men go round.

Appearances Deceptive

Aunt—I don't like to see you dangle about with mere boys all the time. What do you find so entertaining in that smooth-faced young Thorpe.

Niece—Why, aunt, his face isn't so smooth as it looks.

For the Bowels

If you only knew as much as we and those who have used them know about Rexall Orderlies, you would be as enthusiastic about recommending them as we are. They taste just like candy. They act so easily and so pleasantly that the taking of them is a pleasure.

Even children like Rexall Orderlies; and you know that if a medicine appeals to a child, it will appeal to grown-ups.

Rexall Orderlies

help chase gloom, dispel blues and make you feel happy by their splendid tonic, cleansing and strengthening effect upon the bowels. — They act to free the system — and keep it free — from the distress and ill feeling that naturally results from irregular and inactive bowels.

Rexall Orderlies do this quietly, without griping or causing nausea, purging or excessive looseness. They act to overcome and remove the cause

CAUTION: Please bear in mind that Rexall Orderlies are not sold by all druggists. You can buy Rexall Orderlies only at the Rexall Stores. You can buy Rexall Orderlies in this community only at our store:

Final Settlement of the A. & G. W. Case

At one o'clock Tuesday morning the Allertan was advised by private wire from the Hon. A. L. Sifton, premier of the province of Alberta, of the settlement of the Alberta & Great Waterways Case.

The terms of settlement are said to be of a most satisfactory character. J. D. McArthur and his associates are to take over the charter, build the road and assume all outstanding obligations. The bondholders and the Royal Bank are agreeable to the agreement, and the government has acquitted itself of its obligations to the financial interests who took up the bonds of the road on the province's guarantee, and to the people of Alberta, in a most creditable manner.

The message of the Premier to the Allertan is as follows:

"I announced to the legislature tonight the final settlement of the Alberta and Great Waterways Case. The settlement is satisfactory to the Government, representatives of the Royal Bank, the bondholders and others interested."

"J. D. McArthur and associates, owners of the Edmonton, Dunvegan and British Columbia railway now being completed into the Peace River country, who built a large section of the Grand Trunk Pacific road and are now building the Hudson's Bay railway for the Federal Government, will take over the charter and complete the road and assume all existing liabilities.—ARTHUR L. SIFTON."

A vast amount of ill health is due to impaired digestion. When the stomach fails to perform its functions properly the whole system becomes deranged. A few doses of Chamberlain's Tablets is all you need. They will strengthen your digestion, invigorate your liver, and regulate your bowels, entirely doing away with that miserable feeling due to faulty digestion. Try it. Many others have been permanently cured—why not you? For sale by all dealers.

Wedding Bells

A wedding of interest was that of Miss Ernestine Marie Philippin of Canby, Oregon and Henry Edward Abel of San Diego, California, which was solemnized Wednesday, September 3rd at the beautiful country home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Philippin. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. G. W. Plummer, of the Evangelical Association. The bride was attended by her sister, Bertha P. Philippin, the best man being Christopher E. Vick. A sister of the bride played the impressive wedding march.

The bride, beautiful in her embroidered net over messaline, was given a way by her father under the time-honored wedding bell. The house was decorated with a profusion of beautiful flowers and greenery.

An elaborate wedding dinner was served after the ceremony. The affair was quiet, only relatives and a very few friends being present.

After a honeymoon trip to Seattle, Vancouver, B. C., and other Northern points Mr. and Mrs. Abel will be at home at Chehalis, Ore., where Mr. Abel will be pastor of the Evangelical Church.

SHEEPSKIN COATS

We have been fortunate in securing a line of travellers samples of fur and sheep lined coats, vests, etc.

These we have decided to offer to the farmers at a wonderful saving. There are no two coats alike and you'll have to get in early to get one.

No such prices ever before offered, at the beginning of the season.
